

Flowpresso® offers a unique way to support your well-being—using gentle compression and calming warmth through a comfortable, non-invasive full-body suit.

Flowpresso is designed to help you feel more at ease—encouraging a deep sense of restfulness and supporting your overall balance and vitality.

Compression

Flowpresso uses a controlled cycle of inflation and deflation to naturally stimulate flow in the body. Compression therapy, when applied, may assist in the natural release of toxins from the body and support overall well-being.

Thermotherapy

Flowpresso utilises gentle, soothing warmth in the four primary garment sections to embrace the body with comforting heat. This carefully controlled temperature range is designed to support relaxation, promote healthy circulation, and encourage a sense of ease, helping the body unwind and restore balance.

Deep Pressure Therapy

Flowpresso applies targeted deep pressure to the body—similar to a gentle hug—through individually controlled chambers, creating a relaxing experience that encourages the body to calm and release the daily stress of life.
